In preparing the present edition for the press, it has accordingly been the aim of the editors to bring down the informatic to the latest pearlie dates, and to furnish an accurate account of the most recent discoveries in acience of every fresh production in literature, and of the newest inventions in the practical arm, as well as to give a succint and origina record of the progress of pelitical and historical events. the work bas been began after long and

The illustraneous which are introduced for the first time in the present edition have been added not fer the sake of pictorial effect, but to give greater lucidity and force to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of science and of natural history, and depict the most famous and remarkable features of scenery, architecture, and art, as well as the various rocesses of mechanics and manufactures.
